William Denis Browne

William Denis Browne grew up in Leamington Spa in England.
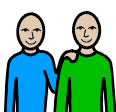

He went to Cambridge University.

He was a very good musician.

He played the piano and organ and gave concerts.
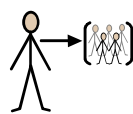

He also wrote songs and a ballet.

He was friends with the poet Rupert Brooke.
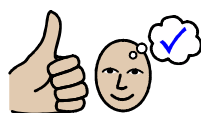

In February 1915 Browne went to Gallipoli.
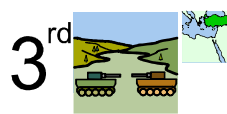

He was in the same regiment as Sep Kelly and Joe Murray.

Browne was with Rupert Brooke when he died.

He wrote well-known account of Brooke's death and burial.

Browne was killed at the Third Battle of Krithia.